The new 115-piece Electrician's Competence XXL 2 case generation is a prime example of enhancement to Wiha's product portfolio and segment-oriented work. Tailored to the needs, wishes and requirements of users in the electricians' trade, the manufacturer's product line has taken huge steps forward in its evolution in terms of breadth, structure and quality. The sparkover-safe Wiha dowel racket, automatic stripping pliers, an automatic crimp tool and the multi-functional Wiha flashlight with UV light and laser are just a few examples of the range's optimisation which Wiha will be pulling out of the hat in Frankfurt. Other new products comprise the fluorescent electrician's ruler, an electrician's spirit level, coloured, luminescent L-keys, the Stubby VDE screwdriver bit holder just under 10 cm long and the impact perfect bits in the new bit concept. Wiha won't be revealing how it is taking this product portfolio to a completely new level until a product presentation scheduled for this March, shortly before the trade fair opens.
